Sue,
You're right - mine was a long time coming but I accept Christ." I was convicted saying "at night I "urged" you, tongue me for saving you, tongue me come to you saying, Christ is the only answer, receive Him and repent your sins. This isn't a sermon but invite Him in to your heart and or a story its true. Never let the actions of people keep you from God. Here are 3 verses for you:

"If we confess our sins, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." 1 John 1:9

"And this is the commandment That we should believe on the name of His Son Jesus Christ, and love one another as He gave us commandment." 1 John 3:23

Sue I hope you heed God's call. I'll always remember you in prayer. I'll call or write from Winona Lake

I still don't believe that a human can be so beautiful! Knowing you has driven me out of my mind, since you always seem to be hung up on D.S., but what can I say... I hope that I can get out to Georgia to visit you in the near future, and if not, I know you'll come to visit me, since you've always been secretly wild about me - Right? "A school is not a learning to live; it is obligated to be life itself, for we have to learn from life, not about it."

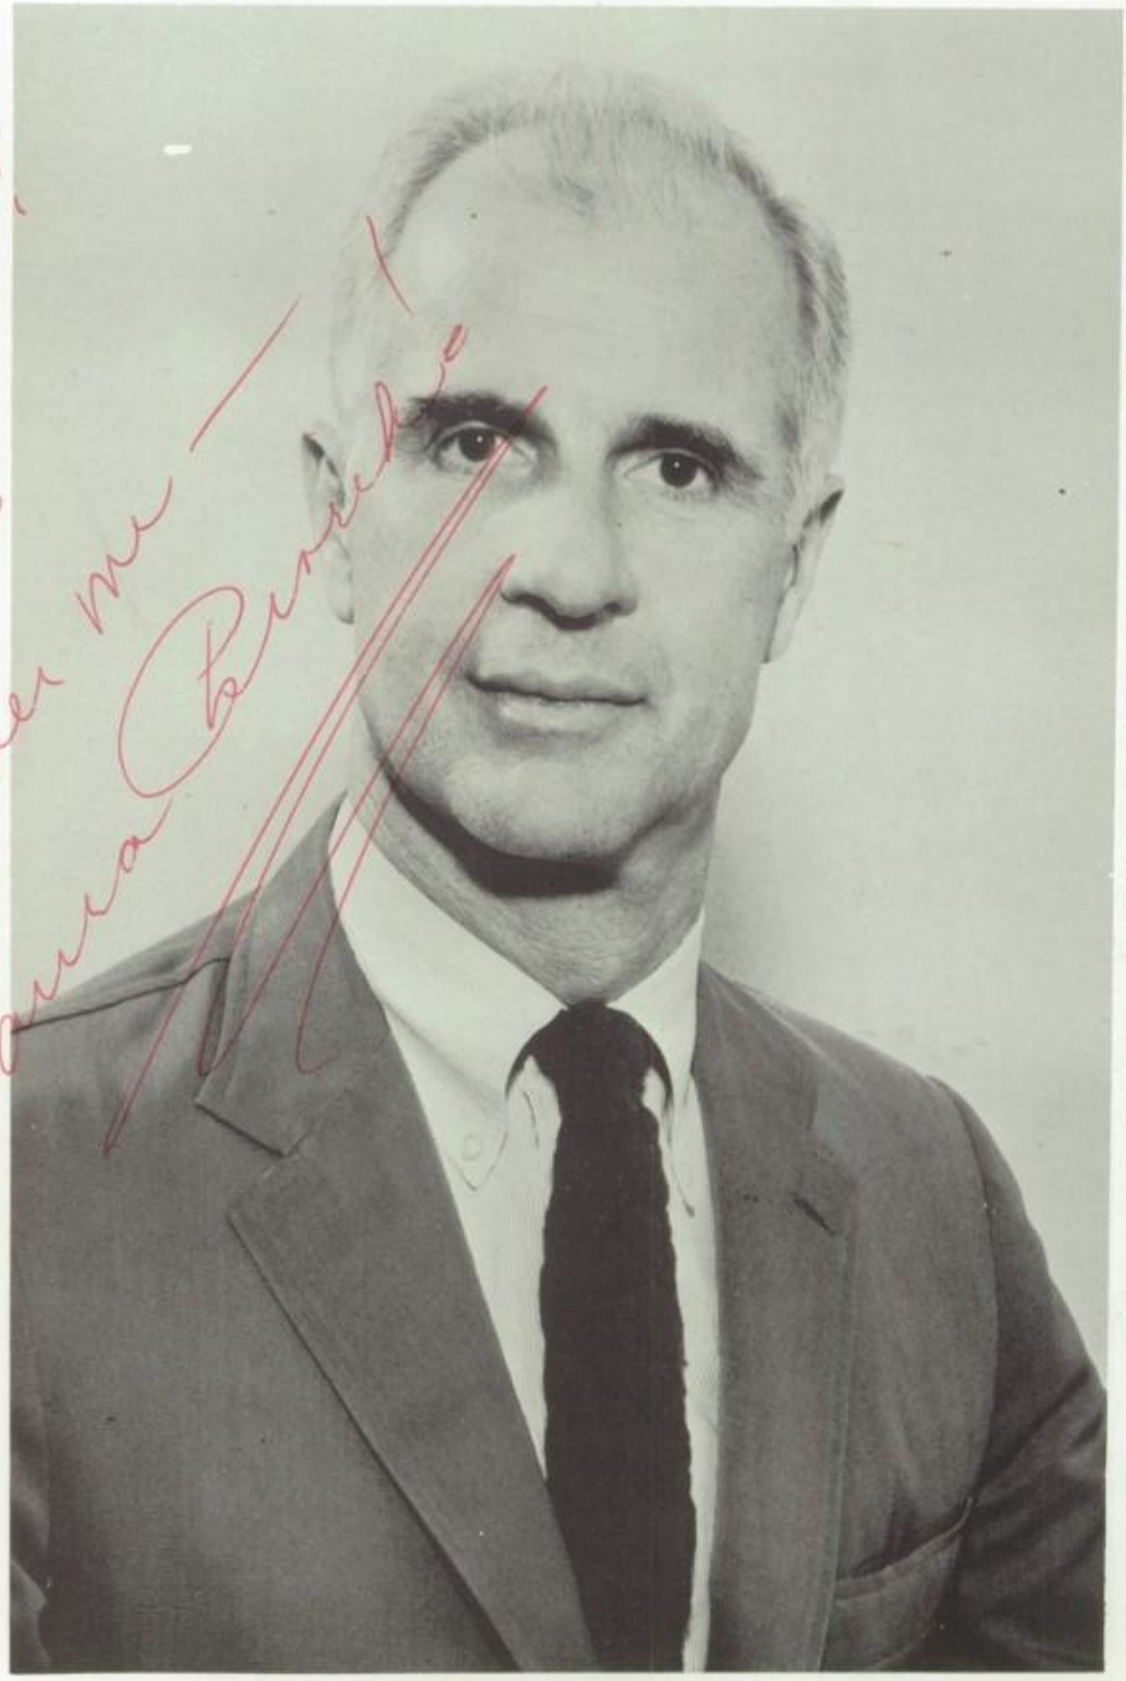
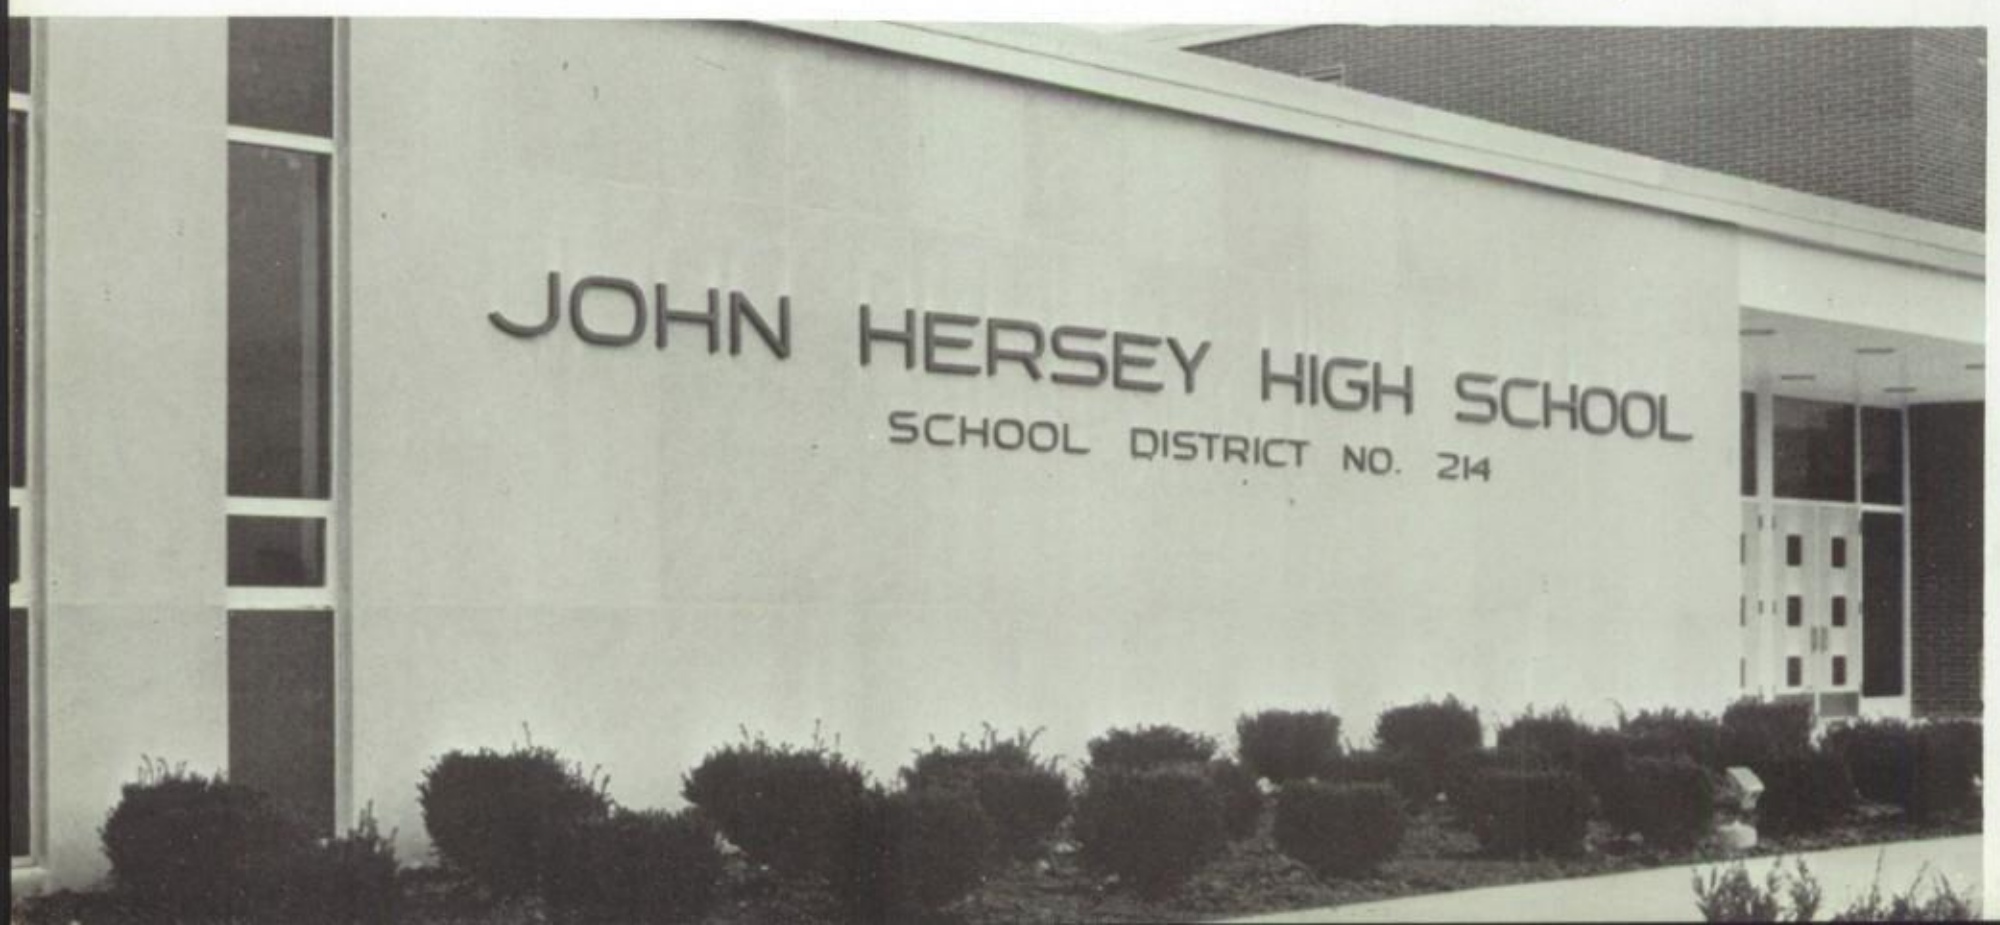
I cannot think of any honor in all my fortunate life—and I include the Pulitzer Prize and honorary degrees and election to the American Academy of Arts and Letters—that has had more meaning for me than this one. To think that young hearts and minds of the future will enter portals bearing my name and reminding me of my work is to have the greatest reward—and incentive, too—that a writer could have.



John Hersey



I am more than grateful; I am moved to a point intolerable for a wordsmith; the point at which the mere use of words in public like this may cheapen and falsify what I inwardly feel.

It is far too glib, and it is a gross and provocative miscalculation, too, to dismiss all the student unrest, as George Wallace dismisses it, as the pastime of anarchists and "pointy-heads," of communists. Such discriminate accusations do terrible harm in the minds of the young. Indeed, I would assert that the very best young men and women of our college generation are deeply disturbed by the drift of this world, and if the older generation lumps their concern and their acts of witnessing this concern under the scornful categories of "hippy behavior" or anarchism or new leftism, then the older generation is simply driving the young headlong into those camps.

What are the issues that trouble these students? They are the moral issues to which the older generation has for decades given pious lip service while not being willing or able to make the necessary sacrifices needed for real change: students care about injustice, oppression, war, racism, and the draining of warmth from our lives by machines.

As we seek today a theme for the dedication of this fine new institution, I would suggest that we look under the surface of student protest, that we look beyond the few beards and bare feet to the clear eyes of the many, that we take as a matter of course the youthful tendency to be headstrong and impatient and wholehearted, and that we zero in on the honesty, the directness, the creative energy of our young people, their burning desire not simply to mouth words but to work and sacrifice and protest and then work again to achieve a more decent, more rational, more just, more humane, more peaceable world.

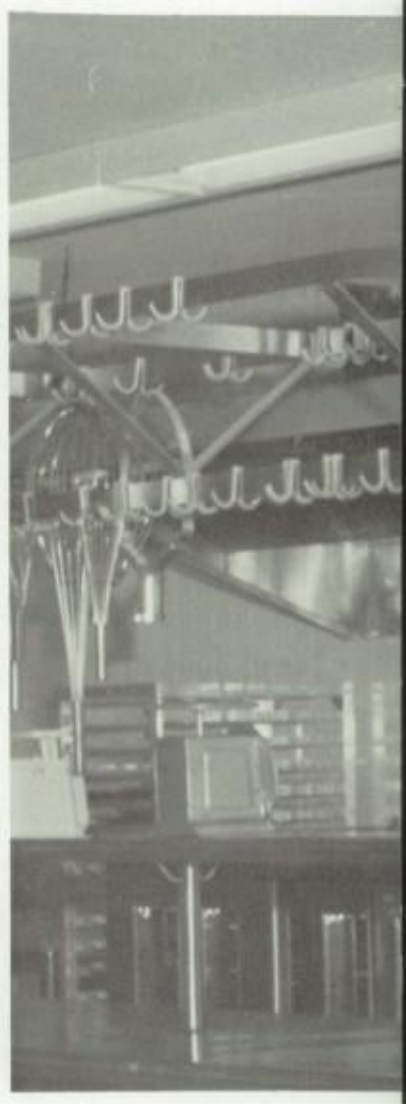
To these thrilling qualities of the younger generation I, John Hersey, dedicate John Hersey High School.

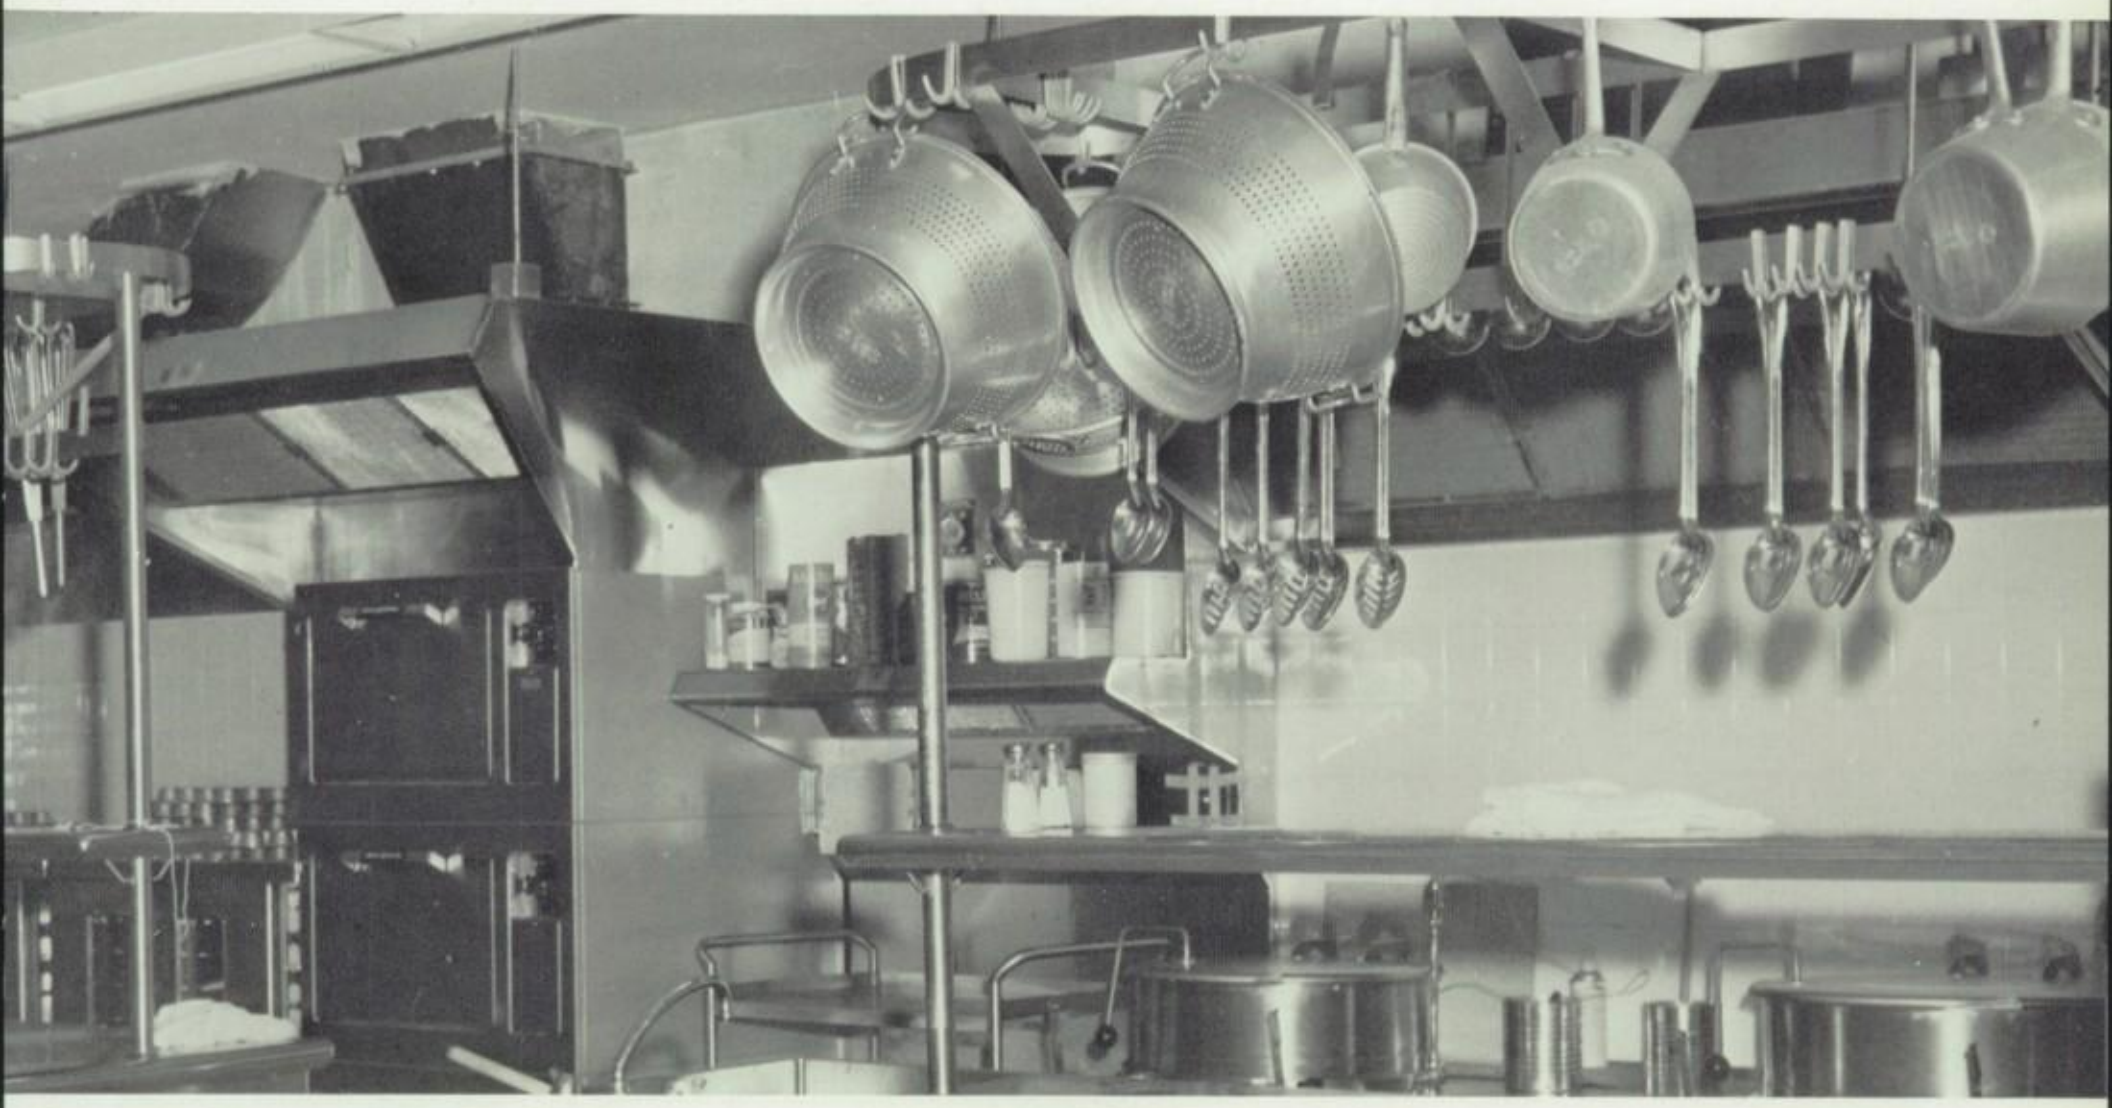
The most significant achievement that we should strive to accomplish at Hersey High School is . . .

. . . to make the administration more responsive to the students' wishes. . . . to strive for school spirit which would mean a higher morale and wholesome attitude among the students.

. . . to create an understanding between the students and faculty. With this achievement we will be able to work together in future efforts.

. . . to set the rules, traditions and high standards for the incoming students of the future.





. . . to create an atmosphere of pride and unity that will grow throughout the years.

We hope to achieve a standard of education that will benefit us for the rest of our lives . . . to broaden our interests, knowledge and maturity, and to mold a standard for our continuing education.

Let us realize what we have here: an excellent faculty and staff, a beautiful building, an outstanding student body . . . Hersey students will back our band, our vocal groups, our speech team and our athletes because they represent us and we are proud of them, win or lose.

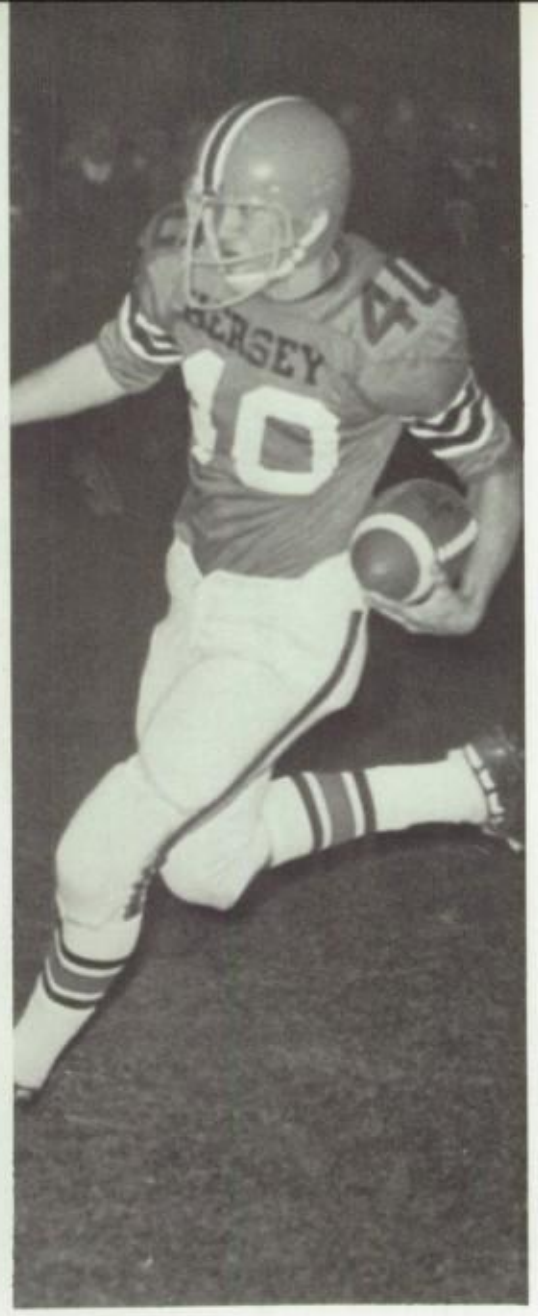
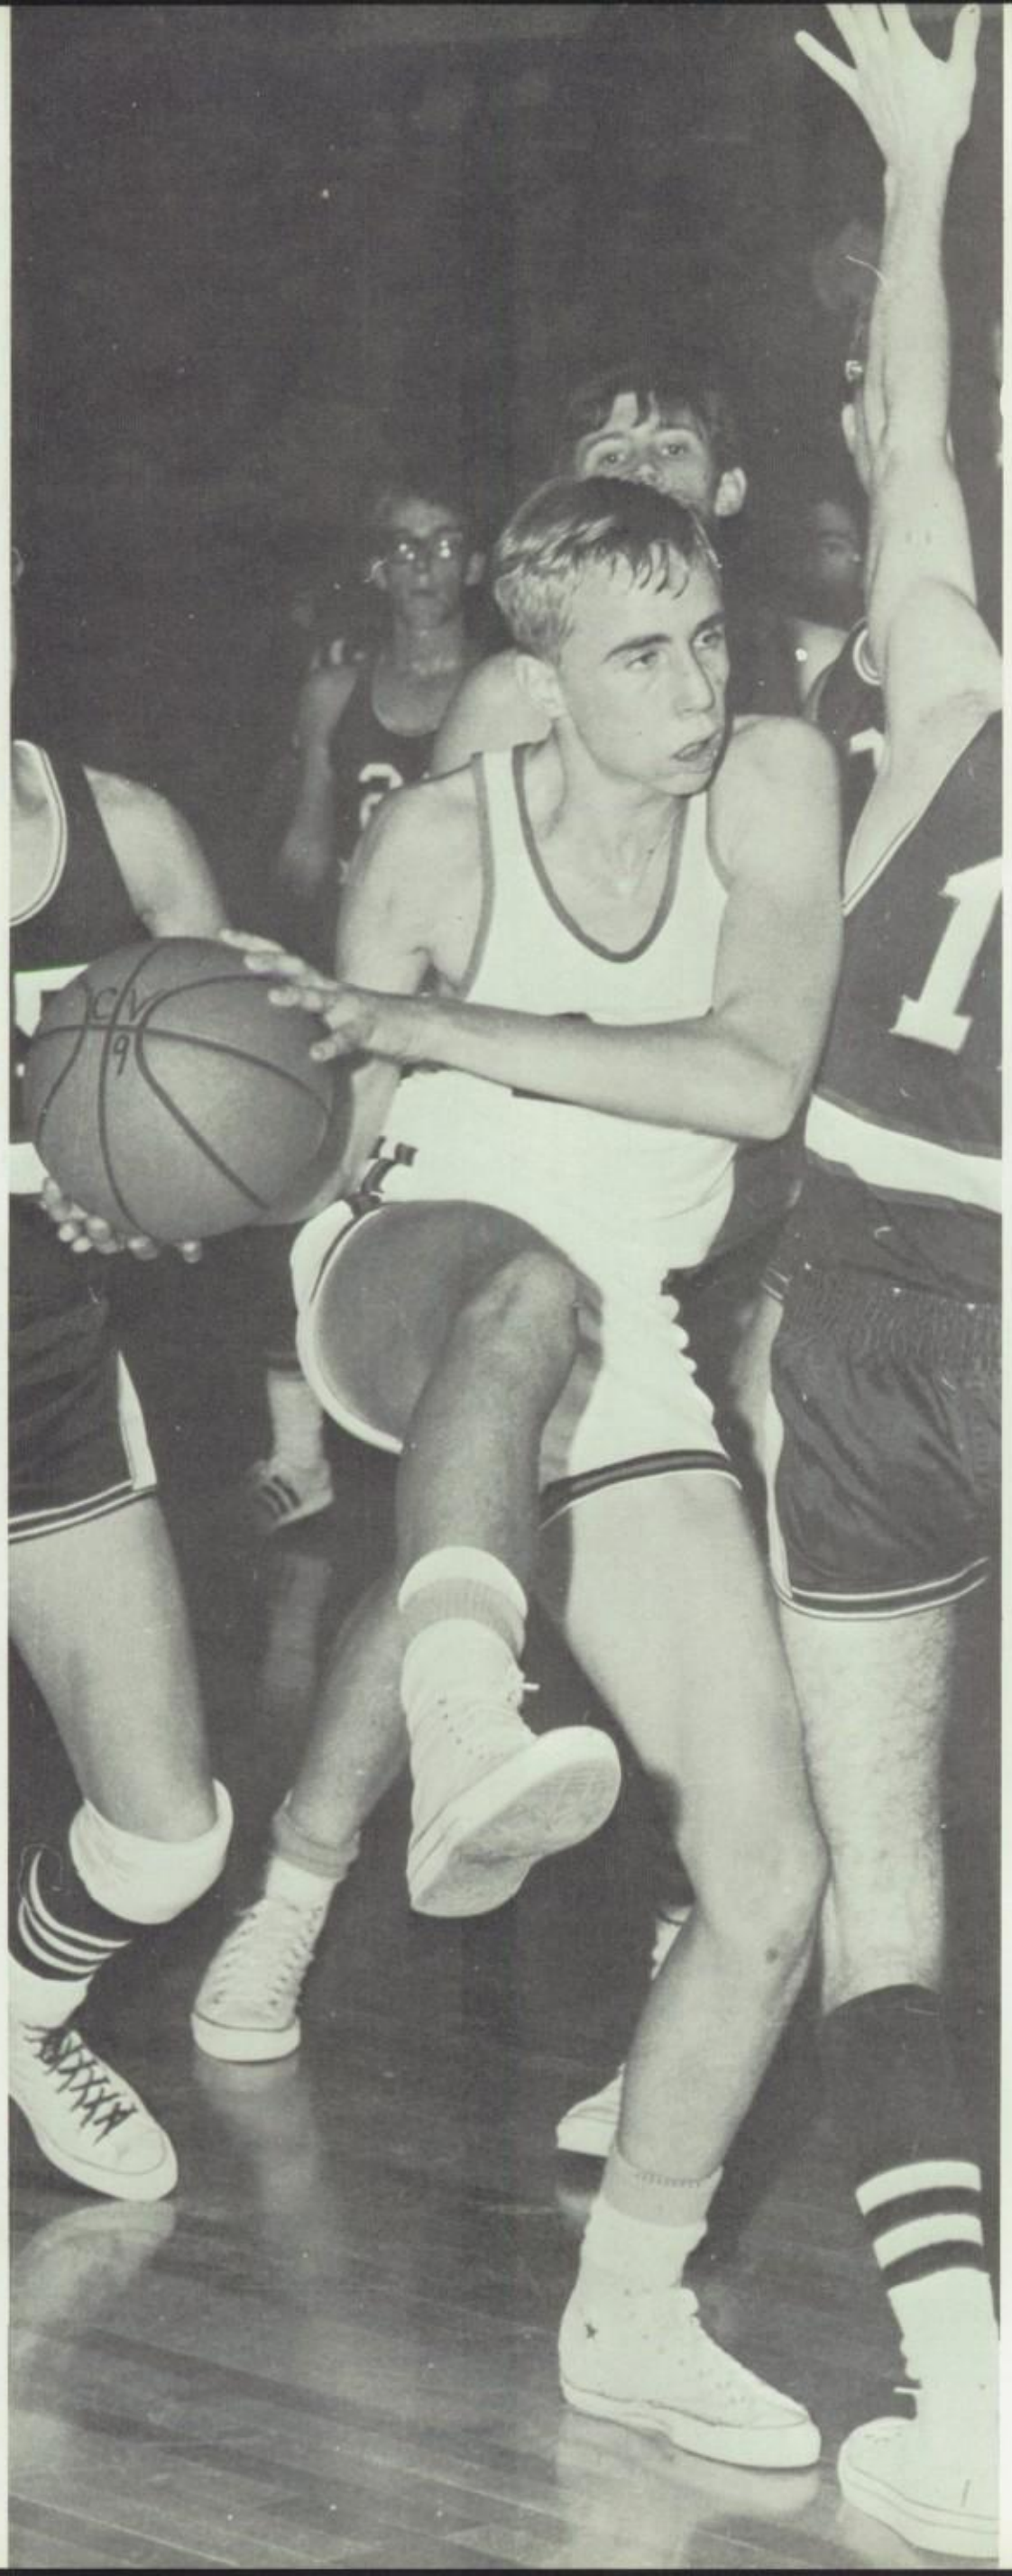
I want Hersey High School to produce tolerant, compassionate, and at the same time vitally concerned and questioning human beings.

The ideal that should be strived for is total involvement. Through this, spirit is elevated and pride in being a member of the Hersey student body is created and remains.

We must start making advances in the line of uniting the student body. For, as young adults, we are heirs to the task of running our nation. Individuality and class competition are great, but there should be a greater loyalty and enthusiasm for the whole school's spirit and achievement.

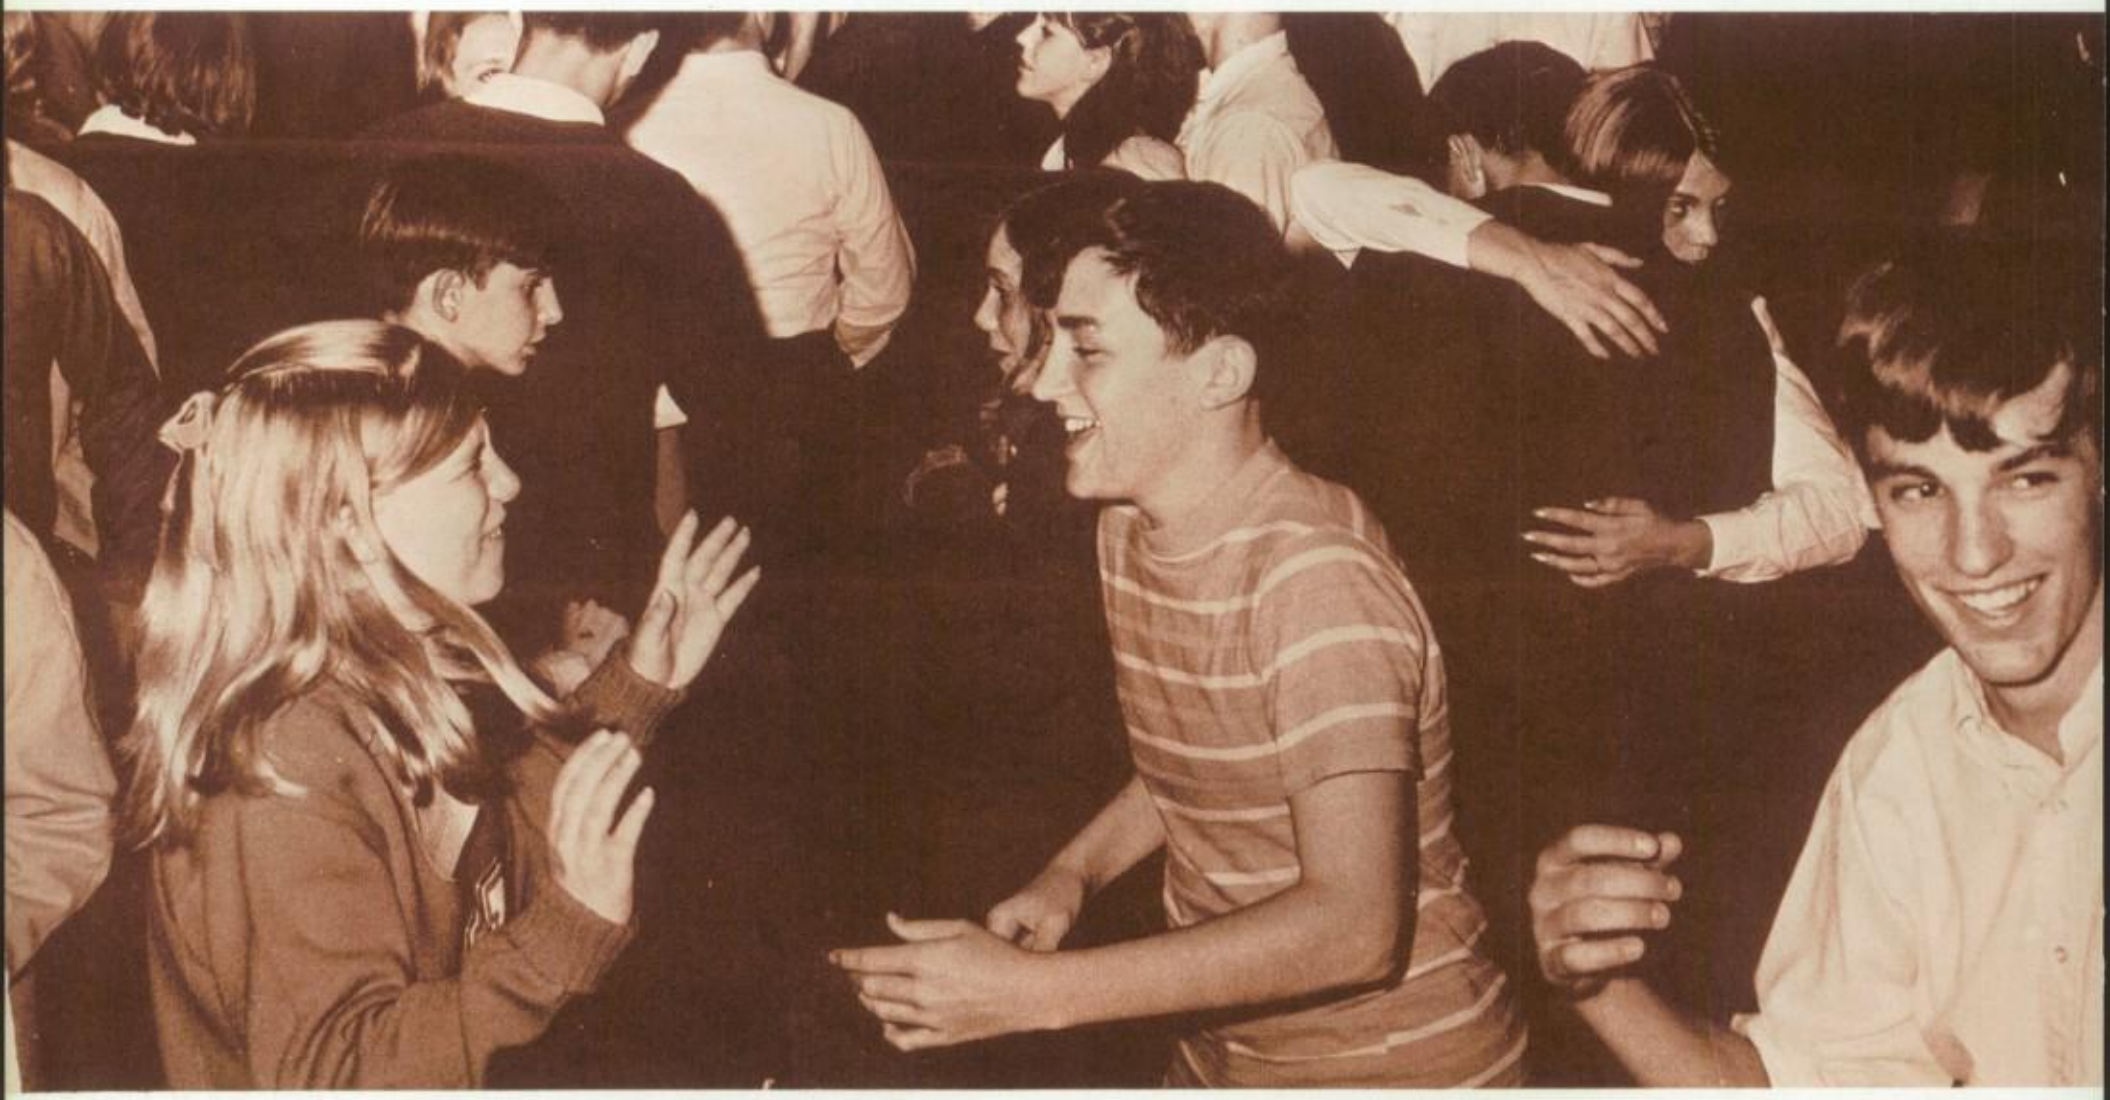


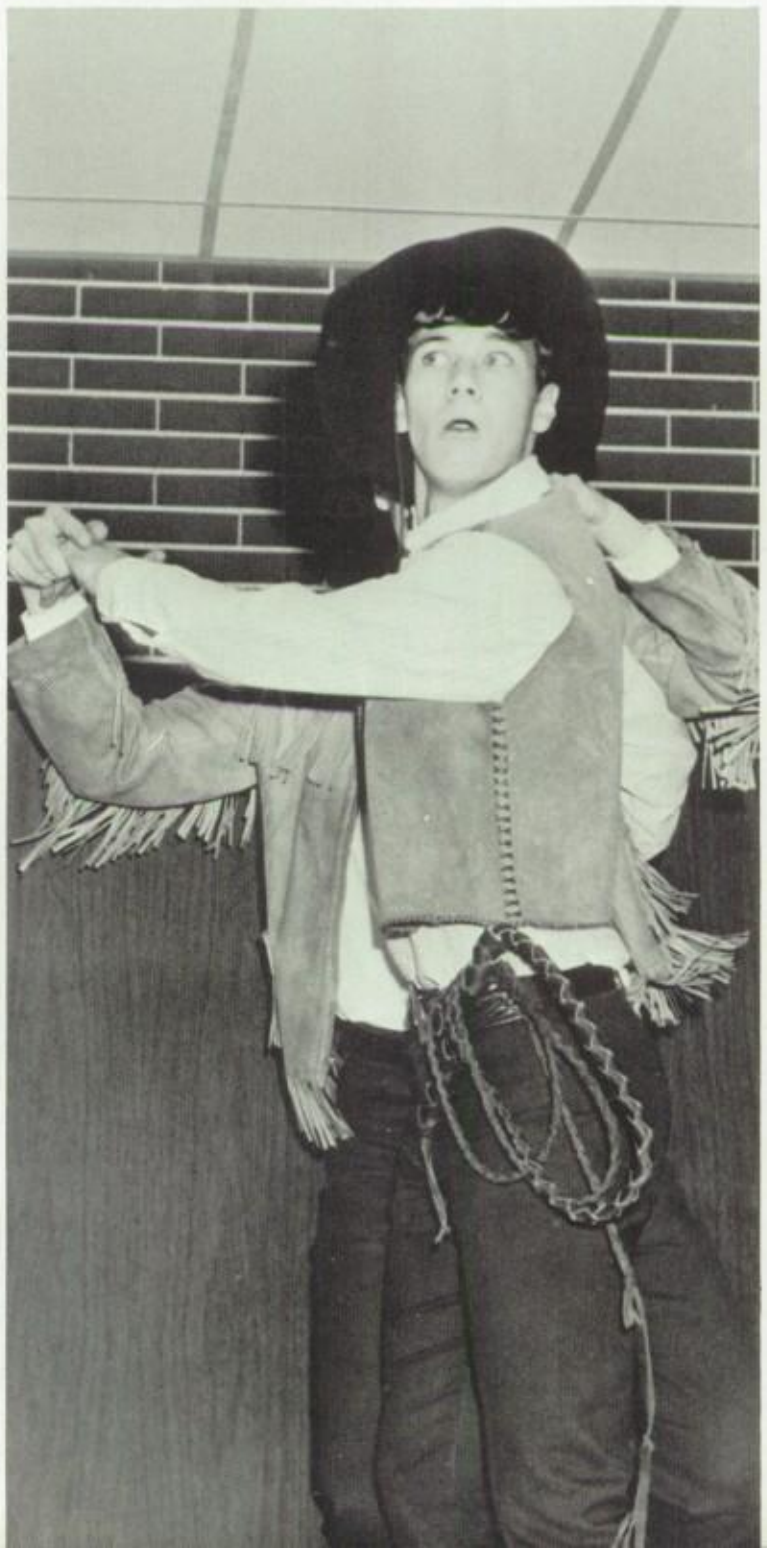


We don't want to fall into the old sameness of a poor, do-nothing Student Council or a school with a lack of spirit. We should keep our school new.

Despite difficulties, we should never lose sight of our goals.

The emphasis should be taken off organizations and put on people.





Winning organizations should no longer be recognized as an end, but a means to an end in the development of the individual. We are obligated to grow into the most worthwhile human beings possible—the world today depends upon the status of the individual within himself.

We should try to live up to the great name we have been given. We can show Mr. Hersey that we have already begun to make a name as the most spirited school in District 214, not only in athletics, but in academics, music and community interest.

Board, Superintendent Provide District Goals

Through the cooperative efforts of the office of the Superintendent of District 214 and the Board of Education, residents of the community saw the plans originally begun in 1965 reach fruition in September of 1968 when John Hersey High School officially opened its doors to incoming students.

Not only were these administrators concerned with the construction of and maintenance of quality institutions for secondary education, but their domain reached further into the actual administering of many of the policies dealing with the curricula, introduction of new course offerings and major decision making for the six high schools under their jurisdiction.

Using their knowledge and the resources of administrators, faculty, students and members of the community, this team strove to provide quality education for the communities which it serves.

Odds Against Opening Never Stop Mr. Goins

Many months before the actual opening of Hersey High School, Mr. Goins was actively engaged in trying to alleviate many of the problems which might arise in the future.

Persistent in his belief that students assigned to this new building would have a school in which they could be proud, Mr. Goins overcame what many believed as insurmountable odds and provided the necessary impetus to get the machinery rolling in order that Hersey could accept its first student body.

Constantly aware of the needs of the students and faculty, Mr. Goins often worked hand-in-hand with contractors to see that plans for the building were completed.

After many initial inconveniences necessitated by some incompleted areas of the building, the students, faculty and staff now has at their disposal a modern, well-equipped educational facility in which to pursue their goals.

Assistants Guide, Plan Students' Activities

Working closely together with the Principal, the Assistant Principals, Mr. Schultz and Mr. Titre, assist in carrying-out policies which have been acted upon for the betterment of the total educational spectrum at Hersey.

Helping to relieve some of the burden of administering to all the needs of the student body, faculty and staff, Mr. Schultz assists the Principal in those responsibilities of an administrative nature.

Working in the areas of curriculum and instruction, Mr. Titre provides the assistance needed in such matters as the subject matter being taught, textbook and instructional materials being used and teacher-pupil classroom ratios.

Handling all student related activities, Mr. Kopp assists students, faculty and administration in seeing that planned activities run smoothly.

Pupil Personnel Aids Students In Planning

The services rendered in this area are available to students at almost any time either by appointment or on an emergency basis.

Broader than the mere avenues of counseling or guidance, Pupil Personnel runs the complete gamut from the students' physical to mental health.

Using the finest facilities and latest resources, members of the Pupil Personnel team serve the students in planning their futures and solving any present problems.

Among the many services provided are special college and vocational counseling, class scheduling, speech therapy, sociological and psychological assistance, health service, and a special program designed for the education of students with hearing difficulties.

EFA Allows Students To Develop Aesthetically

Encompassing the areas of art, music and literature, the English-Fine Arts Division provides an outlet for students whose aesthetic values are aroused.

The art department offers opportunities for ceramics, metal sculpture, welding, and classes in illustration, drawing and painting.

Unique in the English department is the prominence of John Hersey's novels. This stress has been placed on Mr. Hersey's works, not so much because he is the school's namesake, but as Division Head Mr. Daletski claims, "Because his novels deal with the real here and now."

Library Helps Abate Intellectual Appetite

Already boasting about 8,000 volumes in its first year, the Library is the hub of the intellectual pursuits of Hersey students.

In addition, the Library has facilities for microfilm reading, periodical reading, workroom space and plentiful office space.

Thus far, the Library subscribes to over 150 periodicals, both popular and professional to benefit both student and teacher.

Study carrels are available for the student who seeks seclusion in his study. These are designed to be wired as audio listening booths that will include three separate channels.

Also destined for the future is the development of the complete works of John Hersey accompanied by the critical reviews of his works.

Two adjacent classrooms are available for class utilization of the Library.

A-V Supplies Sights, Sounds Of Knowledge

The eyes and ears of the Audio-Visual department provide teachers and students with the latest in equipment to enhance the learning situations at Hersey.

Available through A-V are films, records, tape recorders, television sets, movie projectors, video tape recording equipment and the services of school photographers and darkroom facilities.

An adjunct to any course, these devices enable teacher and student to better teach and understand materials.

Besides making all these different A-V aids available, it is the responsibility of the department to coordinate the use of the materials so that they are utilized to their ultimate capacity.

Finally, it is the A-V department which keeps teachers informed and aware of current innovations which have been developed in the use of equipment so that it might be incorporated into the Hersey program.

Math-Science Division Plans New Courses

"The dream of yesterday is the hope and the reality of tomorrow," said Mr. Hruby in summing up the aims of the Math-Science division.

Boasting the latest in scientific equipment and facilities, the Math-Science division is prepared to offer to Hersey students the best in education in these fields.

Already available to students are many facilities often lacking in other departments like a resource room where students may view over 200 films dealing with all phases of science.

Planned for next year are many new courses to expand the offerings of the division. Some of these include a course in computers for seniors, a math-science seminar that will combine lecture and individual project work, and courses in botany and zoology.

PE Provides Outlet For Excess Energy

Hampered somewhat at the beginning by lack of completed facilities, the Physical Education division rebounded yeomanly and provided the area where students worked off much nervous energy.

Equipped now with a fine gymnasium, field house, gymnastics room, wrestling room and area for teaching dancing, the PE division blossomed into a full scale program soon after the winter vacation.

Additionally, members of the division serve in many areas of the extra curricular sports activities as coaches and trainers, and sponsors of activities allied with the athletic program at Hersey.

Dedicated to the creation of a sense of good sportsmanship and wise use of physical energy, the PE division promotes spirited athletic competition.

Practical Arts

Fulfilling many needs of Hersey students, the Practical Arts division includes those courses generally found in industrial education, homemaking and business.

In the area of industrial arts students can elect to take courses in woods, metals, graphic arts, power mechanics, electronics, and drafting.

Additional courses to be offered to Hersey students next year will be vocational machine drafting, auto mechanics, and graphic arts.

Courses found in the homemaking department this year included clothing, home decorating, child care, creative cooking and homemaking.

Reaching many students with an eye toward business, the business education department offered courses in typing, shorthand, bookkeeping and general business.

Overhead Labs, New Course Plans In SS-FL

Providing a link between the past and the present through study of both the social sciences and foreign languages, the Social Science-Foreign Language division features the latest in modern facilities and conveniences.

Among these are overhead language laboratories wherein students are not hampered by having to attend special periods for individual language study, but rather can practice within their respective classrooms. Course offerings include French, Spanish, German, Latin and Russian.

Using many of the electronic media available to complement and enforce teaching techniques, the social studies department already has plans for future offering including sociology, economics and Latin American history.

Office Staff Offers Aid To All At Hersey

No school could function without the valuable assistance of its office personnel. Relieving administration, faculty and students of many of their laborious, time-consuming responsibilities, the office staff typed, filed, recorded, and acted as managers of many of the functions of teachers and administrators to allow them to perform their duties more efficiently.

Assistance Comes From Dedicated Staffs

The assistance offered by the nurse, police counselor, and study hall clerks assists teachers and administration in the performance of their respective assignments.

No school could do without the services provided by the cafeteria staff who provides the entire school with sustenance to get through the afternoon classes.

Finally, the custodians spend many hours keeping the building and its facilities in livable and workable order so that learning may take place.

Newspaper Serves As Forum On Free Press

The Correspondent, receiving its name from John Hersey's career as a war correspondent, started with an experimental-type format.

The paper attempted to allow every student to express his opinions in either the "Teens View the Issues" column or letters to the editor. Through this, the Correspondent dealt with a number of controversial topics, such as drugs at Hersey, with the hope of informing students without excessive administrative or editorial censorship.

The paper joined the National Scholastic Press Association and Northern Illinois School Press Association, high school press groups who offer constructive criticism for improving the quality of the Correspondent.

Also, one staff member, editor Faith Ottery, was initiated into Quill and Scroll, honorary journalism society.

As a final plaudit, the Correspondent was awarded All-American rating by the NSPA in the spring of the year—a tribute to the staff.

Endeavor Portrays Hersey In Prose, Photos

The Endeavor, receiving its name because the staff thought that this was the final endeavor of the school year, started gathering materials for the June publication at the outset of the school year.

Gathering information, collecting data and taking and selecting photographs for the spring publication were all tasks which the staff had to perform.

Because the Endeavor is a spring to spring publication, certain activities and information had, out of necessity, to be excluded from this year's book for inclusion in the 1970 publication. These include any activity which took place after March 15.

Speech Team Wins District, Section Titles

The Individual Speech Events team contributed to Hersey's winning ways throughout its first season. The team earned the school's first trophy at Hersey's own District 214 Invitational, November 16. Third place was awarded to Hersey speakers from the 22 schools that competed.

The entire team worked for its success with a number of speakers standing out in their respective events. Six members of the team competed at the New Trier Tournament of Champions, March 14, 15.

The "Magnificent Seven" state team, Milt, Mike, John, Pat, Bob, Bonnie Allie and K. C. Scott surpassed all area schools in winning first place in the district competition at Elgin, February 15. The team then became one of the top six teams in the state after winning sectionals at Maine East, March 1, becoming the first team in Illinois History to achieve this in its first year of existence.

Four members of the team, competing in five events, were able to reach the State finals at Illinois State University, March 28, 29, finishing fifth in state.

Choral Music Concert Features All Groups

Hersey's choral music department, after beginning the school year under somewhat cramped conditions, overcame all obstacles and produced some of the most enjoyable entertainment that students, faculty and community heard throughout the year.

Highlighting the season for the groups were the special concerts given during the Christmas season and the fine output of all the choral groups in their winter concert which featured a folk music program.

In addition to the talents they lend to their own endeavors, members of the choral music department were also highly influential in making the Fall Variety Show and the Spring Musical, Music Man, the great successes they were.

Rafael Mendez Concert Highlights Band Year

Weeks before the opening of Hersey High School in September, the Band, under the direction of Mr. Donald Caneva, began work as a group to insure quality musicianship for Husky spectators when school opened.

Not discouraged by having to practice under adverse conditions the first semester, the 130-member band blossomed into one of the finest musical organizations to be heard in district 214.

Discontent with simply playing for Hersey functions, the Band extended itself by playing concerts during the Christmas season and spring time for local junior high schools and grammar schools.

The highlight of the Band's season came on March 8, when they played a pops concert featuring world renown trumpet virtuoso, Rafael Mendez.

Golden Autumn Week Shows Spirit Of Hersey

Golden Autumn Week, October 14-18, the first major function at Hersey exhibited the spirit that was to be found prevailing through the halls of Hersey the entire year.

Hersey echoed throughout the entire student body all week. On Monday, each class was given a corridor to decorate in competition with the other classes. Here, the freshman class walked off with the honors.

Princesses to reign at the weekend festivities were chosen by the three respective classes on Tuesday, followed on Wednesday by Grub Day, sponsored by the Spanish and French Clubs.

A giant pep rally on Thursday night highlighted what was called Spirit and Color Day, followed by a coke dance in the cafeteria. During the pep rally, the princesses for the weekend were announced. They were freshmen Patti Swartz and Tara Walsh, sophomores Montel Watson and Joan Allen, and juniors Kris Ludford and Lyn Newren.

Topping off the weekend were the Husky victory over the Wheeling Wildcats and the Golden Autumn dance Saturday night.

Kris Ludford Reigns At "Moonlight 'n Mistletoe"

The first Christmas Ball, December 21, sponsored by the junior class, had as its theme, Moonlight and Mistletoe.

The semi-formal dance which was set in the cafeteria was the responsibility of the junior class under the direction of president Milt Chen.

Serving on the committees which handled the preparations for the dance were John Sauter and Larry Brandau, decorations; Judy Nichols, Dave Good and Garnet Vaughn, publicity; Pat Shaughnessy and Barb Aschoff, pageantry; Ginny Hall, bids; Craig Sjogren, ticket sales and Fran Watson, refreshments.

Highlighting the night's festivities was the crowning of junior Kris Ludford as Queen. Serving on the court were Carolyn Hobbs, Donna Kirkendall, Laura Piorek, Nancy Schneider, Elaine Smith, Fran Watson, and Sue Willig.

Music for the evening was provided by the Velvet Glove group.

Variety Show Proves "Show Must Go On"

Working somewhat under the same theme —if it has one—as the popular "Laugh In" show, members of the Variety show cast worked many hours on their own to produce Hersey's first night of real entertainment.

Because other facilities were not yet completed, the show had to be presented in the school cafeteria under less than ideal conditions; however, nothing seemed to deter cast members from their goal—"the show must go on."

Using every available technique that their imaginations could muster, the cast relied heavily for comic elements upon the "blackouts" technique so popular with many current television shows.

After playing to full houses both nights, the cast could feel assured that their efforts had been appreciated by the audiences that attended the performances.

"Inherit The Wind" Opens New Theatre

Hersey's first dramatic production of the year was Lawrence and Lee's Inherit the Wind, presented on January 30 and February 1. The cast also presented a special performance for faculty members and community Gold Card members which was followed by a reception.

Inherit the Wind is based upon the Scopes "monkey trial" of 1925 in which a Tennessee law prohibiting the teaching of evolution was tested. Lead roles in the production included Mike Dresser as Drummond and Sam McCall as Brady.

The sell-out was directed by Mr. Harold Petersen, assisted by Miss Chris Weeks and student director K. C. Scott.

Potpourri Presents Bits 'n Pieces Of Year

On these and the following pages, the staff of the Endeavor attempts to present a candid view of some of the many activities that space, time and economics prevent them from highlighting in a special section of this book. As Hersey grows and the number of activities taking place grows with it, the section will undoubtedly have to be expanded to provide an honest picture of the school year.

Presented here for students' enjoyment are pictures from concerts, games, after-game dances, banquets, and pictures taken at random at various functions.

Though not strictly literary in quality, the staff of the Endeavor has chosen to name these pages its—Potpourri.

JV's Post 8-2 Record; Drop Finale To AHS 23-20

Opening against Glenbard North, our Huskies lost a heartbreaker, 7-6. This was not to quiet the bark of the Huskies, however, as they went on to win their next seven games without much opposition.

Going into the final encounter with Arlington, the Huskies and the Cards had everything riding on the outcome of the game—the Conference title.

Leading handily at the outset, the Husky eleven was unable to handle the late surge by the Cards and the final score saw the Husky team dropping a squeaker, 23-20.

Looking toward the future, Hersey should be able to expect great things from next year's team in light of this years performance since most of the team will be back to play another season together.

Sophomores End Year With 4-2-2 Record

The Sophomore gridders began the season with a bang by drubbing the Glenbard North eleven, 28-0. The following week, however, the table was turned as the Huskies could only manage one tally while Prospect pushed over three.

Against the Palatine team, the Huskies once again came to life as they nudged the boys from Palatine, 13-6.

The Conant offense proved too much for the Husky defense the following week as the Huskies met defeat, 27-13.

All was for naught the next week when the Huskies fought to a scoreless tie against Fremd.

In the final two efforts of the season, the Huskies were undone by the Cards of Arlington and ended their season by tying Elk Grove, 6-6.

Frosh "A" Team Posts Respectable 5-2-1 Mark

In their first season for the Huskies, the Frosh "A" squad posted a respectable 5-2-1 record.

After beating Prospect handily, 26-6, the Frosh "A" ran into a little trouble in their next two contests, losing to Palatine in a close one 6-0, while getting edged by Conant the following week, 12-6.

In their next two contests, the Frosh beat the Cats of Wheeling, 13-6 and returned the following week to roust Fremd by a 27-0 score.

The final three games found the Frosh beating Arlington, 27-7, tying Forest View, 7-7, and beating Elk Grove, 19-7.

Frosh "B" Team Goes Undefeated — First For Hersey

The Frosh "B" team lost little time in making a name for itself as it became the first team in Husky history to record an undefeated season.

The "B" squad knocked off their first five opponents, Prospect, Palatine, Conant, Wheeling and Fremd before they were forced to settle for a tie with Arlington, 0-0.

Regaining their momentum the next week, the "B" team beat Forest View, 7-0 and went on to end the season in a thriller by edging Elk Grove, 14-13.

Varsity Comes Alive For 7-13 Season Mark

Hersey's varsity cagers got off to a slow start in playing their first varsity schedule with a team comprised mainly of junior ball players, but near the season's end, they gained finesse and composure to finish their first year with an overall record of 7 wins and 13 losses.

It should be noted that of the 13 games that the Huskies lost in their first season, five of these games were by less than a 5-point margin which indicates that these games might have gone either way.

Proving that things were beginning to jell for the Huskies at the end of the year were the reversals of earlier losses that the Huskies managed to pull over teams from Conant and Forest View.

In the final game of the season against the league-leading Wheeling Wildcats, the Huskies proved that they had improved greatly by staying in the ball game until the final whistle, indicating that the earlier drubbing at the hands of the Cats was no predictor of things to come from the Hersey five.

At the season's finale, junior forward Scott Feige was selected to the All-Conference team.

Inexperience Hampers Varsity Grapplers

In their first year of varsity competition the Husky grapplers were plagued by lack of experience as they met many teams that had had much more time on the varsity mats.

Depending on neophyte freshman talent in three of the weight classes definitely did not help the Huskies this season, but it provided much needed experience for the team which should prove beneficial in the next three seasons in the conference.

Judging from the records of some of the underclass teams, namely the frosh and soph teams, Coach Porter might be able to draw from some of the talent within these ranks in the future to bolster his varsity team.

Because the entire team will be returning for the 69-70 season, and because the ranks of the underclassmen are filled with boys who want a piece of the action on the varsity level, Husky spectators can look forward to some real battles for those varsity positions next year.

—Jue:—

I guess you all ready know that I love you like a sister to me when you were near and then you moved and I really realized that you were one of my really true freinds. I really don't know what I've done without you to be there either to back me up or hold me down. I really miss you and will you ever remember to screw on your head in the morning without me.

You asked me how I put up with you my answer is "I DON'T Know!" Maybe it's because you "put up" with me.

I want to wish you all the luck in the world because you deserve it. When your in Georgia remember the fun times and not the "disagreements" we've had. Don't change Please don't. and also remember the weekend we spent in Saline and the poor little evergreen you picked naked.

Remember me. Good Luck &
God Bless
